MARTIN PREFERRED FOOD TO HOST THE EPICUREAN PROJECT BENEFITTING RECIPE FOR SUCCESS FOUNDATION

September 19, 2017. Houston, Texas. On October 4 at the Silver Street Studios, Martin Preferred Foods will host their second annual insider wine and food extravaganza, The Epicurean Project. Featuring over 20 of hottest Houston chefs such as Chef Greg Martin, Chef Martha De Leon, Chef Russel Kirkham, Chef Jose Hernandez, Chef Travis Lenig, Chef Angel Rodriguez, and Chris Loftis, this event showcases the newest food industry trends. From the micro to macro, tastemakers and attendees will see what's making the cut in the Houston world of food.

Martin Preferred Foods is offering 125 VIP tickets exclusively to Recipe for Success Foundation supporters for this highly anticipated evening. Attendees will watch culinary artists as they compete with the finest ingredients from local purveyors, dine on delectable bites, and taste the best wines as they discover the latest trends in fine cuisine.

As the beneficiaries of The Epicurean Project, Recipe for Success Foundation will use the proceeds from the evening for Delivering Hope, A Virtual Kitchen Shower to help families forced to evacuate their homes by Hurricane Harvey's victims. As families resettle, the Foundation will deliver a Welcome Home basket of fresh produce from their Hope Farms along with items to replenish their pantries and basic kitchen equipment. Depending on funds raised, Recipe for Success will continue weekly produce deliveries to each family for up to a year.

"We want to help families get back to normal as quickly as possible," says Recipe for Success Founder Gracie Cavnar. "We believe that the kitchens is the heart of our homes—where we share meals and stories with family and friends; where life is anchored and celebrated. We want to help restore our neighbor's kitchens, filling them with healthy food and the means to cook and serve it."

VIP tickets are available on a first come basis for $75 from Recipe for Success Foundation here. For more information call 713.520.0443.
